The Pathology of War Plans: The Lessons of 1914

March 5-6, 2005
Mershon Center
1501 Neil Avenue
Room 120

The major European powers, Austria-Hungary, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and Russia, developed war plans in the years prior to the August 1914 outbreak. These plans, all of them, proved to be seriously flawed. Six experts will present their analyses of the planning processes and the pathologies involved.
